35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, requires the specification to be written in "full, clear, concise, and exact terms." The specification is replete with terms which are not clear, concise and exact. The specification should be revised carefully in order to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Examples of some unclear, inexact or verbose terms used in the specification are: at pages 5-6, lines 5 and 24, "continuous" is misspelled.

Claims 10 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In line 3, "application" needs to be changed to "applicator" for proper antecedent basis.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 9 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Chess et al (5656369).

Claims 10-11 and 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The adhesive patch station is a sub-component of the printing press which includes a roll receiver station 10, as well as print, patch and die stations. Claim as drafted is inaccurate in reciting the receiver station is part of the patch station. See the specification description at page 4, lines 16-30 and page 5, lines 12-25.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10-11 and 13-14 are, insofar as understandable, rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chess et al in view of Weidner et al (5861457).

Chess et al identifies his web 11 as bond paper, but does at column 3, lines 29-30, state it be of other sheet material having desired characteristics, Weidner at column 11 identifies the backing paper for adhesive labels to be treated with silicone to enhance repellency (ease of peeling) to tacky substances as "glassive papers". See column 11, line 61. At the time of applicants invention have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the printing art, a complex art, to have substituted a glassive silicone treated paper of taught by Weidner et al for the bond paper web 11 of Chess et al. Motivation for such a substitution is clearly set forth in Weidner et al as rendering backing surfaces for adhesive layers repellant to tacky surfaces. See column 11, line 36 of Weidner et al.

A shortened statutory period of 3 months is set to respond.
